About the Institute

Kamla Nehru Institute of Physical & Social Sciences was founded by late Shri Kedar Nath Singh, the then Deputy Cabinet Minister of Agriculture, Govt. of India on 2nd of October, 1972. It embarked upon the mission of providing education from July 1973 keeping in view its vision- quality education, discipline and economic independence. In its five decades journey, the institute has established itself as one of the premier institutions of eastern U.P. The institute is affiliated to Dr. Rammanohar Lohiya Avadh University, Ayodhya. It was evaluated at Grade A by NAAC in May 2019. From the academic session 2023-24, it is functioning as an autonomous institution. The institute has its another campus which is located at Fareedipur on Ayodhya-Prayagraj bypass. The institute currently provides education in the areas of Arts, Science, Commerce, Management, Law, Agriculture, Education and many other related fields. The academic ambience of the institute attracts naturally students not only of the city but adjacent cities also.

About the Department

Department of English since the inception of the institute has been one among the most liked, recognized, and reputed departments. It embarked upon the journey of imparting education in 1973 under the forward-looking headship of late Ishrat Rehman madam. It has been from the very beginning under the grant-in-aid category. Students usually come from neighbouring districts and feel benefitted in the academic ambience of the institute. Presently the department is being headed by Prof. Vijay Pratap Singh. There are three more faculty members working permanently in the department- Dr. Sunita Rai, Dr. Ratnesh Baranwal, and Dr. Raj Kumar Mishra who are continuously guiding students and inspiring them to achieve their goals. Every year three hundred plus students join the department at the undergraduate and postgraduate level. All the faculty members of the department every year publish their scholarly research papers in the reputed journals of the country and abroad. At the same time, they actively participate and make sure presence in national, international seminars, symposia, and faculty development programmes. All the faculty members supervise Ph.D. research scholar.

About the Seminar-

Since people with certain deformities have been part and parcel of mankind then why they should be ignored, oppressed, and marginalized. They have even outshined in every field including literature, science, music, dance, sports, and politics. Albert Einstein, Stephen Hawking, George Washington, Hellen Keller, Franklin D Roosevelt, Frida Kahlo, Ludwig Van Beethoven, Walt Disney, Sudha Chandran, Ravindra Jain, Arunima Sinha are a few names who never allowed their physical weakness to take over their spirit. They successfully created their own history. The role of literature written in English, Hindi, Sanskrit, and Urdu or any other language of world has been almost same that is the well-being of humanity, to promote co-existence, and fraternity. In English studies, folks with certain deformities have been represented and addressed by both kinds of writers- Physically hale and hearty and physically deformed. In this series we have Shakespeare, John Milton, Alexander Pope, Samuel Johnson, Harper Lee, Sylvia Plath, John Steinbeck, William Faulkner, Scott Fitzgerald, Herman Melville, Fyodor Dostoyevsky, Albert Camus, Anita Desai, Rohinton Mistry, Mahesh Dattani, Firdaus Kanga, Yasmin Sawhney, Jeeja Ghosh, Shivani Gupta, Preeti Monga, Naseema Hurzuk, Malini Chib, Alisha Rai, Padma Venkatraman and so on so forth. The motif behind this proposed seminar is to look at the concerns of people with disabilities and how such people have been represented in English literary studies across the world. All the same, it is to bring about change in the perception of general humanity towards them so that they could not feel marginalized and segregated from the mainstream.

Objectives

The motif behind organizing this seminar is to look at the concerns of people with disabilities and how such people have been represented in various literary studies across the world. All the same, it is to bring about change in the perception of general humanity towards them so that they could not feel marginalized and segregated from the mainstream.

Being the faculty member and researcher, it is our responsibility to provide platform to intellectuals, thinkers, researchers and students in form of National Seminar to discuss the issues pertaining to the intersectional relationship of society, gender and disability. The outcome of this seminar would definitely help to boost up further studies in this field and same time will help policy-makers to form laws keeping in mind concerns of such folks.

The students of the College and researchers across the country will get due exposure and new vistas in this respect and the proposed national seminar will provide sufficient information to them

The national seminar concentrates to give holistic view of social development with certain solutions. It will also spread awareness in our societies.

Sub-themes

- Historical Perspective on Disables and Disability.
